P R E F A C E.

IN publishing an Index of the Society's 'Transactions' to the present date, the Council have to acknowledge the services of Mr. B. R. WHEATLEY, who has bestowed much careful labour on its preparation. It is based on an Index of the early volumes of the 'Transactions,' made by the Society's Librarian, the late Dr. HENNEN, and published in 1851. The Council trust that the new Index, though less elaborate and copious than the old one, will prove equally useful and convenient for reference.

BERNERS STREET ;

June, 1871.

NOTE.

The names of Contributors are printed in ITALIC CAPITALS, Subjects in ROMAN CAPITALS, and the names of Authors referred to, or quoted from, in SMALL CAPITALS.

Important Sub-headings are printed in SMALL CAPITALS, Cross references in Italics, and the notices of Contents of Papers in a smaller type (Brevier), under the heading of the principal subject-matter.

Cases of aneurisms of the aorta and arteria innominata, 36, &c.

of the AORTA, (J. Thurnam) xxiii, 321

Of the ascending aorta ruptured into the left cavities of the heart, 381; of the posterior aortic sinus communicating with the left auricle, referred to, 381; of the left aortic sinus, projecting and threatening to become ruptured, into the left ventricle, referred to, 382.

— two cases of, in which there was neither pulsation nor abnormal sound (T. A. Barker) xxviii, 597 — with a communication with the pulmonary artery recognised during life by physical diagnosis (W. F. Wade) xlv, 211

— (dissecting), see Aneurism (Dissecting) page 17

— (varicose), see Aneurisms (varicose) page 18

— implicating pneumogastric nerve (S. O. Habershon) xlvii, 36 of the thoracic aorta, causing dysphagia, and which burst into the œsophagus (T. J. Armiger) ii, 244 — case which opened into the trachea and left bronchus, with hæmoptysis four years and eight months before death, &c. (W. T. Gairdner) xlii, 189 of the ascending aorta, bursting into the right ventricle, with a communication between the two ventricles (T. S. Beck) xxv, 15 — treated by the insertion of wire (C. Murchison) xlvii, 129, 136 in the arch of the aorta, which had obliterated the left carotid artery (Sir A. P. Cooper) i, 12 case of scrofulous abscess in the anterior mediastinum, simulating aneurism of the arch of the aorta or of the innominate (D. MacLachlan) xxxiii, 201 of the descending aorta, that burst into the œsophagus (S. Cooper) xvi, 339 of the abdominal aorta, enormous, with post-mortem appearances (Sir D. J. H. Dickson) xxi, 401

— death from xxxvi, 135

— case which was cured by compression of that artery immediately above the tumour (William Murray) xlvii, 187

AXILLARY, on the treatment of (J. Syme) xliii, 137 — case of, from a punctured wound, in which the artery was tied below the clavicle with success (R. Chamberlaine) vi, 123

— successfully treated by ligature of the subclavian artery above the clavicle (— Post) ix, 185

— an unsuccessful case of operation for, above the clavicle (C. Mayo) xii, 12

— a successful case, in which the subclavian was tied (H. L. Gibbs) xii, 531

— ditto, ditto (C. A. Key) xiii, 1

— ditto, ditto (J. Crossing) xvi, 344

— ditto, ditto (C. Mayo) xvi, 359

— on the right side, case of, for which the subclavian artery was successfully tied, the left subclavian having been ligatured for an aneurism about three years previously (E. J. Furner) li, 163

CAROTID, two cases treated by operation, one being successful (Sir A. P. Cooper) i, 1, 224

— a case of, and successful operation for, but ultimately fatal on the thirty-fifth day (J. P. Vincent) x, 212

Appearances on dissection, 216.

— case of successful operation for (G. Lyford) xi, 97

— ditto, but ultimately fatal from hæmorrhage (H. Coates) xi, 276

— ditto, in which the ligature was applied above the tumour (J. Wardrop) xiii, 217

— see Aneurism (Dissecting), see also Artery (Carotid)

ANEURISM (continued)

- FEMORAL, case of, in the groin, cured by COMPRESSION (J. A. Albers) ix, 26
- treated by long-continued compression of the common iliac (J. Birkett) lii, 317
- two cases of, in the groin, successfully treated by LIGATION of external iliac, with an account of the anastomosis of the arteries at the groin (Sir A. Cooper) iv, 428, 434, 436
- case of, in the groin, successfully treated by ditto (W. Lawrence) vi, 205
- case of, after a gunshot wound below Poupart's ligament, ditto, unsuccessful (C. Collier) vii, 136
- case of, in the groin, cured by ditto (J. S. Soden) vii, 531
- case of, immediately below Poupart's ligament, successfully treated by ditto (G. Norman) x, 94
- sequel of the foregoing case, and account of the condition of the blood-vessels of the limb after death, and twenty years after the operation (G. Norman) xx, 301
- case of, in the groin, ditto, unsuccessful (G. Norman) x, 99
- case of, in the groin, ditto, successful (E. Salmon) xi, 398
- case of, in the groin, in which pulsation reappeared after the application of a ligature to the external iliac (P. Hewett) xxix, 75
- case of, the sac of which burst, and its treatment (J. Birkett) l, 431
- false aneurism of a branch of the external femoral artery from a wound by a pistol-ball, for which the external iliac artery was tied, without success (R. Liston) xxix, 107
- remarkable case of varicose aneurism of the (J. G. Perry) xx, 21
- GLUTEAL, supposed case of, cured by ligature of internal iliac (W. Stevens) v, 422
- dissection of the parts concerned in the foregoing case, and the ischiatic artery found to have been the true seat of the aneurism (R. Owen) xvi, 219
- of the HEART, with cases (J. Thurnam) xxi, 187

Appendix to the foregoing, showing the authorities for 74 cases, 262.

- ILIAC, case of (James Syme) xlv, 381
- EXTERNAL, case of, for which the femoral artery, and subsequently the aorta, were tied unsuccessfully (J. H. James) xvi, 1
- case of, in which the common iliac was tied (death on the tenth day), with remarks (Sir P. Crampton) xvi, 157

- case of, for which the common iliac was tied with success (R. Hey) xxvii, 325
- of the external iliac and common femoral arteries, treated by digital pressure (H. Lee) xlv, 441
- double, affecting the right external iliac and femoral and the right popliteal arteries, case of, cured by pressure upon the common iliac and femoral (J. Hilton) lii, 309

INGUINAL, see Aneurism (Femoral)

of the INNOMINATA, case producing suffocation (W. Lawrence) vi, 227

— case in which the carotid and subclavian arteries were tied, and the patient survived four months and a half after the first operation (W. Wickham) xxiii, 405

— case of dissecting, of, together with the aorta and right carotid, giving rise to suppression of urine and white softening of the brain (R. B. Todd) xxvii, 301 — case of an abscess in the anterior mediastinum, simulating aneurism of the, or of the arch of the aorta (D. MacLachlan) xxxiii, 201

— implicating the branches of the pneumogastric (S. O. Habershon) xlvii, 26

INTRA-CRANIAL, compressing of the brain by, and resulting paralysis of left side, &c. (J. W. Ogle) xlii, 403

MESENTERIC, superior, two cases of, in one of which jaundice was induced by pressure of the sac (J. A. Wilson) in the ORBIT, see Aneurism by anastomosis of the orbit, Eyeball (Protrusion of).

xxiv, 221

of the OPHTHALMIC artery, traumatic, consequent on injury of the head, cured by ligature of common carotid (T. B. Curling) xxxvii, 221

POPLITEAL, dissection of a limb in which the femoral artery had been tied for a popliteal aneurism seven years previously (Sir A. Cooper) ii, 251 — case of, with suppuration of the sac, following LIGATURE of femoral artery (W. Lawrence) vi, 203

— diffused, case of, of unusual character (W. Lawrence) viii, 495 — observations on the symptoms attending the change of, from a circumscribed into a diffused state, with a case for which the femoral artery was tied, and the limb subsequently amputated on the fifth day (S. Cooper) xvi, 320

— two cases of, treated by temporary ligature of the femoral artery (Sir P. Crampton) vii, 359

— case of, wherein a temporary ligature was first applied to the femoral artery, which not succeeding, the usual operation was performed with success (B. Travers) ix, 409

- case of, in which a temporary ligature was applied to the femoral artery with success (W. Roberts) . . . xi, 100
- a case for which the femoral artery was tied with success, and the following year the operation was performed on the opposite limb for a similar disease, and cured (G. Norman) . . . x, 116
- case of, in which the superficial femoral artery was first tied, but owing to secondary hæmorrhage a ligature was placed round the artery in the groin; but the bleeding recurring from the wound where the first ligature had been applied, amputation of the limb was performed; alarming hæmorrhage took place from the wound in the groin, the external iliac was then tied, and the patient recovered (S. Hadwen) . . . xxi, 318
- case of, in which the femoral artery was tied with success after the sac had burst (J. D. Wright) . . . xxxii, 167
- case of, cured by COMPRESSION of the femoral artery (E. Greatrex and W. T. C. Robinson) . . . xxviii, 39
- case of, treated by compression, and remarks on the method (O'B. Bellingham) . . . xxxiv, 143
- List of cases in Dublin, 1843-50, 148; statistics of the results of the ligature, 154.
- dissection of a case, in which two had been treated by compression of the femoral arteries (P. Hewett) xxxiv, 161
- case of, cured by compression of the femoral artery, the patient dying five months after of aneurism of the abdominal aorta (J. Monro) . . . xxxvi, 135
- case of, cured by digital compression (G. Southam) . . . xlv, 211
- account of some unusual occurrences during the cure of [by compression] (C. H. Moore) . . . xlvii, 17
- case successfully treated by FLEXION of the knee-joint (E. Hart) . . . xlii, 205
- ditto (A. Shaw) . . . xlii, 209
- case successfully treated by flexion of the knee (A. E. Durham) . . . xlvii, 25
- case of, cured by flexion of the knee (H. C. Johnson, narrated by E. Hart) . . . xlvii, 29
- of the PULMONARY artery, together with malformation of the heart, case of (T. B. E. Fletcher) . . . xxv, 282
- spontaneous varicose of the ascending aorta and pulmonary artery (J. Thurnam) . . . xxiii, 349
- of the right RENAL artery, false (T. A. Barker) xxviii, 602
- of the SCIATIC artery, cured by ligature of external iliac (W. Stevens) . . . v, 422
- dissection of the parts concerned in the foregoing case (R. Owen) . . . xvi, 219

of the SUBCLAVIAN artery, fusiform and tubular, case of, treated by indirect digital compression (A. Poland) lii, 277

Notices of other cases of deviation of the subclavian artery, 282-4; ditto to cases of extra cervical rib, 285-6; difference of dilated arteries and aneurisms, 286-8; Robert Adams's case of dilated subclavian becoming aneurismal, 288-92; absence of pulsation in neighbouring arteries, 293-6; treatment, 297-302.

— amputation at the shoulder-joint for, recovery (J. Spence) lii, 306 — right, cured by direct compression (F. M. Corner) lii, 303 of the TEMPORAL vessels, arterio-venous, case which was treated by ligature of both the artery and the vein (C. H. Moore) xli, 1 of posterior TIBIAL artery, aneurismal varix following pressure for cure of (O. Pemberton) xliv, 189 of posterior TIBIAL vein, communicating with popliteal artery (E. Cock) xxxiv, 327 of the ULNAR artery, from a wound received in bleeding, case of, in which the temporary ligature was successfully employed (B. Travers) ix, 405

VENTRAL, case of an enormous, with post-mortem appearances (Sir D. J. H. Dickson) xxi, 401

by ANASTOMOSIS, of the ORBIT, case of, in the left orbit, cured by ligature of common carotid artery (B. Travers) ii, 1 — case of, in the left orbit, in which the carotid was tied with success (W. Dalrymple) vi, 111

— remarks on the two previous cases of Mr. Travers and Mr. Dalrymple xxii, 131

— ditto, case of, cured by tying the left common carotid artery (G. Busk) xxii, 124

— ditto, account of three cases treated by ligature of the common carotid artery (T. Nunneley) xlii, 165, 187

Notices of recorded cases, 165; doubtful character of some cases of so-called aneurism by anastomosis of the orbit, 182; fourth case of spontaneous aneurism of the orbit, 187.

— case of, of the FINGER, where compression and ligature of both radial and ulnar arteries failed, but which was ultimately cured by an incision through all the soft parts, excepting the tendons and theca (W. Lawrence) ix, 216

— case of, of the FOREHEAD, treated by the application of ligatures (Sir B. Brodie) xv, 177

— of the SCALP, treated successfully by ligature of the common carotid and setons (G. Southam) xlviii, 65

DISSECTING, of the aorta, in a case of hemiplegia, with hypertrophy of the heart (J. R. Bennett) xxxii, 157

 Notices of other recorded cases and of Dr. Peacock's paper on the subject, 348.

- of the aorta, iunominata, and right carotid, case of, giving rise to suppression of urine and white softening of the brain (R. B. Todd) xxvii, 301

- of the heart, remarks on (J. Thurnam) xxi, 233

TRAUMATIC, of the ophthalmic artery, consequent on injury of the head, cured by ligature of the common carotid artery
 (T. B. Curling) xxxvii, 221

TRAUMATIC VARICOSE, see Arterio-venous cyst

VARICOSE, numerous cases of spontaneous, of the aorta and sinuses of Valsalva (J. Thurnam) xxiii, 321

Three cases between the abdominal aorta and vena cava, 332, 337; of the ascending aorta and superior vena cava, 338; of the ascending aorta and appendage of the right auricle, 341; of the three sinuses of Valsalva, right auricle, and termination of the superior cava, 343; of the right aortic sinus and summit of the right ventricle of the heart, 347; four cases of, of the ascending aorta and pulmonary artery, 349, 351, 353, 356; of the arch of the aorta and left pulmonary artery, 355; reference to similar cases, 358.

- of the temporal vessels, treated by ligature (C. H. Moore)
 xli, 1

- a remarkable and complicated case of, in the thigh, for which the femoral artery was tied without success, with appearances on dissection (J. G. Perry) xx, 31

- case of, in upper part of thigh, following pressure for the cure of an aneurism of posterior tibial artery (O. Pemberton) xliv, 189

Notices of previously recorded cases, 189-92; case, 193.

ANEURISMS, FALSE, some remarks on (R. Liston) xxix, 107

in the POPLITEAL SPACE, erectile, case of, removed by operation (R. Liston) xxvi, 120

Microscopic examination of the tumour, 125.

- medullary, removed, case of (B. Travers) . . . xvii, 389
- existence of, in the PROSTATE (H. Thompson) . . . xl, 87
- of the RIBS, osteo-medullary, case of (B. Travers) . . . xvii, 403
- of the SCROTUM, anasarcaous, remarks on the acute form of (R. Liston) xxii, 288
- of the SHOULDER, malignant, case of (G. Langstaff) . . . iii, 277
- medullary, case of (B. Travers) xvii, 386
- osteo-medullary, surrounding the shoulder, case of (B. Travers) xvii, 397
- of the THIGH, malignant, cases of (W. Lawrence) . . . xvii, 31
- ditto (B. Travers) xvii, 388
- osteo-sarcoma, two cases of (R. A. Frogley) . . . xxvi, 133
- of the TONGUE, globular, observations on (B. Travers) . . . xv, 258
- malignant, removed by ligature, applied from beneath the jaw, case of (J. M. Arnott) xxii, 20

References to analogous cases, 29.

- of the UTERUS, large osseous, case of (J. M. Arnott) xxiii, 199
- calcareous, on the chemical constitution of (J. Bostock) xix, 81
- fibro-calcareous, observations on (R. Lee) xix, 94
- supplement to the foregoing (R. Lee) xxxiii, 279
- of the OS UTERI, malignant, excised during labour, case of (J. M. Arnott) xxxi, 37
- see Polypi

of BONE, see Tumours (Osseous)

CALCAREOUS, see above (of the Uterus)

CANCEROUS, see Cancer

CELLULAR, observations on (W. Lawrence) xvii, 10

CUTANEOUS, medullary, of the arm and trunk, case of (B. Travers) xvii, 374

— malignant, developed on the head and face, with a similar disease in the abdomen, remarkable case of (H. Ancell) xxv, 227

— remarks on a peculiar form of, denominated “pachydermatocele” (Valentine Mott) xxxvii, 155

CYSTIC or ENCYSTED, analysis of the fluids of (J. Bostock)

iv, 83, 87

— ditto, of a tumour in the chest (A. Marcet) ii, 378

— ditto, of a tumour in the thyroid gland (A. Marcet) ii, 377

TUMOURS, ENCYSTED (continued)

- on the nature of the ossification of (J. Dalrymple) xxvi, 238
- aqueous, of the kidney, case of (C. Hawkins) xviii, 175
- of the liver, remarks on (C. Hawkins) xviii, 98
- Aqueous encysted tumours, 98, 118; hydatid encysted tumours, 139.
- in the neck, observations on a particular form of, not necessarily connected with the thyroid body (B. Phillips) xxv, 297
- cases of, in the neck and orbit (W. Lawrence) xvii, 44, 48
- case of double, in the orbit, containing a tooth (S. Barnes) iv, 319

See Cysts, Neuromata, Ovaria (Cysts of), &c.

ERECTILE, in the popliteal space, removed by operation, case of (R. Liston) xxvi, 120

In the neck, case of, removed by operation, 128.

FIBRO-CALCAREOUS, of the uterus (R. Lee) xix, 94; xxxiii, 279

FIBRO-CARTILAGINOUS, involving the upper and lower jaws (R. Liston) xx, 175

MEDULLARY (B. Travers) xv, 232, et seq.

Of the face and angle of the jaw, 232; of the eyeball and contents of the orbit, 235; of the mouth and fauces, 243; of the internal ear, 252.

— (B. Travers) xvii, 313, et seq.

Of the breast, thyroid gland, &c., 313; cutaneous, of the arm and trunk, case of, 374; of the abdomen, mouth, pharynx, &c., 379; of the neck, 381; of the axilla and pectoral region, 383, 387; of the shoulder, 386; of the thigh, 388; of the ham, 389; of the calf of the leg, 391; of the foot, 394.

MYELOID, see below (Osseous)

OSSEOUS, containing hydatids, case of, removed from the head (R. Keate) x, 278

— of the leg and groin (B. Travers) xvii, 401 — large, of the uterus, case of (J. M. Arnott) xxiii, 199

— myeloid and myelo-cystic, their structure, pathology, and mode of diagnosis (H. Gray) xxxix, 121

— pulsating, see below (Pulsating)

OSTEO-MEDULLARY, observation on, with cases (B. Travers) xvii, 395

TUMOURS (continued)

PULSATING, case in which the urine contained cancer cells (C. H. Moore) xxxv, 459

— of bone, observations on, with cases (E. Stanley) xxviii, 303

Dependent on the proximity of a large arterial trunk, 304; dependent on the development of blood-vessels and blood-cells, constituting a sort of erectile tissue, 309; dependent on the enlargement of the arteries of the osseous tissue, 310; case of, of the ilium, in which the common iliac artery was tied, 317; cases referred to, 325.

SEBACEOUS, in the external auditory meatus, their effects on hearing, &c., and treatment (J. Toynbee) xlv, 51; xlvii, 203

SEROUS, see Cysts (Serous)

of the SKIN, see above (Cutaneous)

TARSAL, pathological remarks on (Haynes Walton) xxxvii, 7

WARTY, in cicatrices, observations on, with cases (C. Hawkins) xix, 19

TUNICA VAGINALIS, case of very large hæmatocele of the, in an old man, terminating fatally (T. B. Curling) . xxxiii, 241 on the cure of hydrocele by excision of a portion of the (K. Wood) ix, 38

TUPHLO-ENTERITIS, memoirs on (J. Burne) xx, 200; xxii, 33

TURNER, Professor

On spontaneous obstruction of arteries, notice (W. Ferguson) xl, 3

TURPENTINE, OIL of, effects on the liver (C. H. Jones)

. xxxv, 256

— remarks on the effect of, on the urinary organs (J. Elliotson) xiii, 241 — successfully used in some cases of chronic rheumatism (Sir J. Macgrigor) vi, 448

— on its use in tænia (J. R. Fenwick) ii, 24

— on the anthelmintic power of (N. Rumsey) ix, 402

— enema of, successfully used in a case of trismus (E. Phillips) vi, 65 TYMPANUM, observations on the (J. Swan) . ix, 426; xi, 330 states of, in various cases of diseased ears (J. Hinton) observations on the morbid condition of the lining membrane of the cavity of the, in cases of deafness (J. Toynbee)

. xxxix, 102-14

. xxiv, 191, et seq.

inflammation of the mucous membrane of the (J. Toynbee) xxvi, 301, et seq.

Dissections illustrative of the first stage of inflammation of the mucous membrane of the tympanic cavity, 307.

pathological condition of the membrana tympani (J. Toynbee) xxxii, 71

Pathological condition of the tympanic cavity, 72, et seq.

case of acute caries of the walls of the cavity of, producing ulceration of the internal carotid artery (J. Toynbee) xliii, 217

A. Boinet's analogous case, 223.

affections of the tympanic cavity producing disease in the brain (J. Toynbee) xxxiv, 248 use of artificial membrana tympani (J. Toynbee)

xlix, 153, 159

TYPHOID, TYPHUS, and RELAPSING FEVER, on the identity or non-identity of the specific cause of (W. Jenner) xxxiii, 23, 41

Character of the eruption, 26.

TYPHUS FEVER, remarks on (J. Bostock) xxv, 48

Varieties of, during the occurrence of epidemics, 49; inquiry into the cause which modifies the nature of the disease, 53; mode in which it is propagated, 54; treatment, 56.

on the specific cause of (W. Jenner) xxxiii, 23, 41

Diagnostic symptoms, 27.

chemical examination of the blood in a case of (R. D. Thomson) xxxiii, 88

observations on the prevalence of (Sir G. Blane) iv, 95

prevalence and mortality of, in the British armies in Spain and Portugal (Sir J. Macgrigor) vi, 401, et seq.

Cases 190-4; pathology of the disease, 196; direct admixture of chyle with the urine, 198; chemical evidence, 201; microscopical evidence, 203; chemical analysis, 206; cases arranged in physiological series, 206.

— on a case of (A. T. H. Waters) . . . xlv, 209 in a case of DIABETES insipidus, analysis of (J. Bostock) . . . iii, 107 in DIABETES mellitus, experiments on (W. Henry) . . . ii, 119

Specific gravity of the, and proportion of its solid contents, 120, 123; quantity of urea contained in the, 124.

— experiments on the extract from diabetic urine (J. Bostock) . . . iii, 120 relation of torulæ in urine to saccharine (A. H. Hassall) . . . xxxvi, 23 on the relative amounts of sugar and urea in (Sydney Ringer) . . . xliii, 323

Relation between amount of sugar and urea, 324; influence of amylaceous or saccharine food, 328; maximum of sugar in urine after a meal, 340; duration of influence of food, 341; temperature, 350

FATTY, notices of instances of the discharge of fatty matter with the (J. Elliotson) . . . xviii, 80, et seq.

— see Urine (Albuminous and Fatty)

PINK sediment from, chemical examination of (W. Prout) . . . ix, 481 development of TORULÆ in, and their relation to albuminous and saccharine urine (A. H. Hassall) . . . xxxvi, 23

EFFUSION of, into the abdomen, from rupture of the ureter in a case of malignant disease of the bladder (G. Langstaff) . . . viii, 279

URINE, EFFUSION of (continued)

- two cases of, into the abdomen, from rupture of the ureter or pelvis of the kidney by external violence (E. Stanley)

xxvii, 1

FOREIGN SUBSTANCES voided with the, case of a woman who passed a large number of worms by the urethra, with a description of the animals (W. Lawrence) . . . ii, 385

- note of the case of a man who discharged the larvæ of an insect with the (W. Henry) . . . x, 142

- note of a case of a man who frequently discharged a number of short hairs with the (W. Henry) . . . x, 142

- case of a girl who voided with the, a number of entozootic worms, with an account of the animals (T. B. Curling)

xxii, 274

INCONTINENCE of, of nine years' duration, cured by external pressure, case of (J. Hyslop) . . . vi, 108

- consequent on injury during labour, case of, successfully treated (S. Barnes) . . . vi, 583

RETENTION of, on the use of tobacco in (H. Earle) . . . vi, 82

- from stricture, on the treatment of (J. Shaw) . . . xii, 473, et seq.

- occasioned by a cyst, containing hydatids, originating in or pressing upon the prostate gland (G. Lowdell)

xxix, 253

- occasioned by a cyst containing hydatids, developed in the pelvis (T. B. Curling) . . . xxix, 256

- remarks on surgical operations usually adopted for (E. Cock) . . . xxxv, 153

- cases in which the bladder was punctured through the rectum for relieving distension or facilitating cure of impermeable stricture (E. Cock) . . . xxxv, 160

STILLICIDIUM urinæ, with pervious urachus, operation for (T. Paget) . . . xlv, 13

SUPPRESSION of, and white softening of the brain, in a case of dissecting aneurism of the aorta, innominata, and right carotid arteries (R. B. Todd) . . . xxvii, 301
